

2021

Join Liverpool-based social enterprise FARM URBAN in tackling global food insecurity using innovative local solutions.

Inspiring young people to do STEM and Enterprise differently, through a highly practical, problem-solving based approach to learning.

For Year 9+

Future Food Festival January 2021

A bundle of 6 plug-and-play sessions that you can choose from to deliver as an all- or half-day festival or a series of activities throughout the month.

Introducing learners to some of the key ideas in developing ideas to tackle food insecurity by dreaming big and taking small steps.

A set of online resources, with some live events, teacher training and full support from the Farm Urban team.

- Farm Urban's Future Food TEDx Talk - Fixing the Broken Food System
- Vertical farming virtual tour & scientist speed-dating
- Start with why - find your purpose and align your skills
- Design thinking - from 100 ideas to your mission
- Design Tips & Tricks - developing concepts and prototypes
- Telling your story - brands that people buy into

Future Food Challenge

February - May 2021

Our pioneering 12-week after-school programme for teams of 12-15 pupils, supported by our digital platform.

Year 9 students apply to form their own startups, design and build an aquaponic food system (having learnt exactly what aquaponics is!) and create a brand and business canvas around their product.

Limited places available!

- A digital package of learning resources and activities that will guide students through the 12 Week Challenge
- An equipment bundle for pupils to build their own aquaponics system
- The chance for students to develop skills in project management, leadership, finance, teamwork, communication and scientific research
- The opportunity for students to gain an insight into startup businesses, social enterprise and how they link into Higher Education activity
- Covid-pending finale events at The University of Liverpool and Farm Urban's city centre underground farm

Adapted for social distancing requirements in 2020-21. We're here to help you deliver engaging activities with minimal effort for teachers.
